WEATHER KEY POINTS

12/08/19 - 12/14/19

Sunday

- Valley rain and mountain snow will continue across much of the state through this afternoon
- Travel impacts will continue over the Sierra due to accumulating snowfall
- While total rainfall is expected to be much less than on Saturday, isolated showers and thunderstorms could still potentially produce heavy rain and cause flash flooding or burn scar impacts.
  - There is still a moderate threat of impacts on the Ferguson burn scar today
  - There are no longer significant concerns on the other burn scars that were listed yesterday (i.e. Kincade, Camp, Carr/Delta/Hirz, and Mendocino Complex)

Monday-Tuesday

- Dry conditions with no significant impacts

Tuesday Night-Wednesday

- A weak storm will move through primarily northern California, bringing light valley rain and mountain snow, but no significant impacts are currently expected

Thursday-Saturday

- A series of storm systems will continue to move across the northern half of the state, with travel impacts possible across the Sierra
